They've done it now.
Jesus is clearly innocent
of blasphemy, or of anything else. This will go down as one of our biggest mistakes ever.

I can't believe what I'm seeing. The whole
court, guards, lawyers,
officials and judges
have gone to Pilate's Palace with Jesus.

Jesus has been handed over to Pilate, but Pilate doesn't seem too happy about it. The crowd is staying outside.

Everyone has come to the Praetorium and Jesus has been taken inside. I'm in the crowd waiting to see what happens.

Nothing doing. I had expected that the priests would have gone in, but they are still waiting outside.

Pilate has just come out and declared
Jesus innocent!
Perhaps they'll release him.

Jesus of Nazareth Convicted

The notorious blasphemer and rebel, Jesus of Nazareth, was arrested last night on the Mount of Olives. His followers scattered and were not apprehended

Jesus was tried this morning by the Sanhedrin and found to be guilty of the serious crime of blasphemy. He had also been charged with lesser crimes, having threatened to destroy the Temple and overturned the tables of tradesmen in the Court of the Gentiles, but these were not considered at his trial.

The death sentence was passed on Jesus, but cannot be executed by the Temple authorities in Jerusalem. He has therefore been handed over to the Roman governor for sentence to be confirmed and carried out.

We've just heard from Mary the mother of John Mark that Jesus
was arrested last night.
We think that he is being held by the priests.

Jesus has been arrested!
A small group of Romans
has appeared with Jesus.
They're saying that as he is a Galilean he can be tried by Herod Antipas.

It seems that they sneaked Jesus in from the Praetorium by a back door. I'm trying to hear what happens.

Nothing has happened.
Herod wants a miracle,
but Jesus hasn't said
anything.

Still nothing has happened.
Herod is bored; he is sending Jesus back to Pilate.
